SOCIETY

Miss Vandiver.
Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Holroyd, who were recently married in Greenville, were the guests of honor at a lovely dinner Wednesday evening when Miss Rhoda Vandiver entertained at her home on South McDuffie street.

Mrs. C. B. Earle greeted the guests at the door and invited them to the living room, where Miss Vandiver and Mr. and Mrs. Holroyd received.

In the dining room at a beautifully appointed table covers were laid for fourteen. Dainty place cards marked the places for the following guests who were served a delightful course dinner. Mr. and Mrs. Holroyd, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Horton, Misses Martha Bonham, Alberta Brock, Floride Harris, Caroline Vance and Miss Vandiver. Rex Rice, Rob Sullivan, Bob Cathcart, E. B. Murray and Mr. Welch.

After dinner a number of vocal and instrumental musical pieces were given by the guests present.

Stribling-Foster.
Married—Wednesday evening, September 9th, in Pendleton, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Stribling, their daughter, Lizee and Millege F. Foster.

Ball at Williamston.
On Friday afternoon and evening of September 25th, the Piedmont Northern Railway will give a ball in the Williamston pavilion. Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Fox, of the Castle School in New York will be present and introduce for the first time in this part of the state, the Lula Fado, Ta-Tao, Cabure Tango and other late dances. Fire wicks will also be an interesting event of the evening. Arrangements will be made for the afternoon and night performance to get supper at the hotel. A large crowd from Anderson will go over.

Birthday Party.
A number of little Miss Katherine McClure's playmates were delightfully entertained Monday afternoon at her home on Webb street, when she celebrated her ninth birthday.

Games were played for an hour then Mrs. McClure, assisted by Misses Eva and Mattie Mayfield, served the guests cream, cake and candies.

Among those invited to this party were Virginia Frank, Margaret McCully, Alice Copper, Felicia Tolly, Marie and Thelma Ashmore, Thos. McClure, Clifton McClure, Chas. McClure, Mary McClure, John Calhoun Cochran, Jr., Leo Tate, Margaret Lewis, Ruth Keese, and Elizabeth Strickland.

Women to Wear Cotton Clothes.

At a meeting of the executive board of the City Federation of Women's club, with Mrs. Walter Allen yesterday afternoon, it was decided to call a general meeting of the federation for 4:30 Friday afternoon in the chamber of commerce rooms, the hour having been changed from 5, as was first stated. At this meeting several important matters will be taken up, among them the plans for a movement to wear cotton goods manufactured in the United States. At this meeting all members of the Kennedy Library Association, The Teacups, Kate Barry and Cowpens chapters of the Daughters of the Revolution, Woman's Music Club, Florence Crittendon Circle, Health League and Y. M. C. A. auxiliary are expected to be present. Mrs. Allen urged especially that club women remember that they are members of the federation as well as their own special clubs.

Several interesting ideas were brought out in discussion with various club members. One woman recalled the remark of a former mill president of Spartanburg, who said that a great deal of the cotton goods manufactured in Spartanburg county the Chinese took a notion to lengthen their shirt-tails even one inch, it meant millions to Spartanburg county, "and what," she went on to add, "would it mean, if the women would decide to wear two petticoats, or even one substantial cotton affair?"

Another pertinent remark was to the effect that the national health league was looking after the pure food interests of the country, and why should not there be a movement for sanitary clothing, which would mean the wearing of wash white clothes to a much greater extent than is done now.

Several women showed their enthusiasm by wearing dresses of Spartanburg made material. The movement is, however, not so much to boost Spartanburg mills, as to encourage the wearing of American-made goods in preference to foreign-made goods. —Spartanburg Journal.

Pruitt-Wofford.

Starr S. C., Sept. 12.—(Special.)—Oakwood Farm, the handsome country home of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Pruitt, was a scene of unusual beauty Wednesday when the marriage of their daughter, Margie Marie, to John E. Wofford, Jr., was solemnized. On account of the popularity of this couple, much interest has been centered, and long before the appointed hour which was high noon, the parlors and wide porches were thronged with relatives and friends. The house throughout was artistically decorated with ferns, palms and vases of roses. The staircase and spacious hall on the first floor, where the ceremony was performed, were carpeted in white, and the railings, and pillars were twined with graceful strands of ivy. To the strains of the wedding march played by Miss Florida Pruitt at the piano, accompanied by Frank Hawkins with the violin, announced the arrival of the bridal party, leading from the second floor. They came in the following order: First, the ribbon bearers, Violet Pruitt, and Elizabeth Burris, dressed in dainty white, making an aisle to the extreme end of the hall. Next came, Miss Hettie Jackson with Mr. Tom Witherspoon, Miss Mary Poole with Dr. Harrison Pruitt, Miss Eileen Herron with Mr. Harry Jackson. The bridesmaids all wore dainty white lingerie dresses with pink girdles, and carried arms-full of pink asters. Next, the dame of honor, Mrs. Darwin Reid, came alone, gowned in rose crepe mezer, and carried white asters. Miss Ietta Pruitt, the maid of honor, was lovely in a gown of pea-green crepe de chine and her flowers were white asters.

Then came the pretty brunette bride on the arm of her father, wearing an exquisite gown of white satin, modishly draped. Her veil was caught up with orange blossoms and bride's roses formed her bouquet. The groom with his best man, Mr. George Evans, of Anderson, came through the south parlor, and met the bride in the hall, where, under a large wedding ball of evergreen, their pastor, Rev. J. L. Vasa, performed a short and impressively sweet ceremony. Miss Margaret Williams, of Abbeville, kept the registry book.

Directly after the congratulations the bride laid aside the wedding-gown and donned a beautiful traveling suit of green. Mr. and Mrs. Wofford were sped away by auto, to parts known only to themselves.

Mr. and Mrs. Pruitt then served to all their guests an elaborate turkey dinner, with delicious cakes and ices. Refreshing punch was served in the rear hall. Mr. and Mrs. Wofford will make their home at Starr, in an attractive little bungalow, the wedding gift of the bride's parents. Numerous handsome presents were received by this couple for their new home.

Texas Visitors.

Misses Katherine and Nancy McCall, of Texas, who are the attractive guests of Mrs. K. P. Smith, have been the honorees at several informal evening picnics during the past week.

Delightful Party.

Russell Dean delighted a number of his young friends Friday evening when he entertained at his home just beyond the city. Punch was served on the porch and many indoor games enjoyed by the guests. A sweet course was served those present, who were: Misses Evelyn Browne, Victoria Earle, Annie Earle, Farmer, Hazel Murphy, Elizabeth Kistler of Charlotte, Edna Thompson, Grace Pearman, Laurie Smethers, Sara McFall, Carolyn McFall, Lydia McCully, Laurie Dowling, Eula Mae Dillingham, Mabel Dillingham, Clariss Townsend, Marcella Cuest, Virginia Gilmer, Lucia and Dorothy Sullivan, and Frances Stephens; Tom Balles, Cal Harris, William McFall, Clarence Brown, Todd Barton, Claire Cobb, Harold Erskine, Ernest Cochran, Bertram McCown, John Thompson, Eugene Elmore, Andrew Hodd, Julius and Fred Anderson.

Miss Ada C. Bell.

A number of Anderson people, especially Baptist, will be interested to know that Miss Ada C. Bell has taken up foreign mission work and will be located in Tengchow, China. Miss Bell is a daughter of Dr. Z. P. Bell, who was pastor of the Baptist church of Anderson from 1880-1886, and a niece of E. A. Bell, of this city. The following clipping is taken from the Foreign Mission Journal:

Ada C. Bell was born in Richmond, Va., in 1889, while her father was assistant secretary of the foreign missionary board. She was educated in the public schools of Atlanta, Ga., and Hollins College, Virginia. Two years of special kindergarten work was done in Louisville, Ky. During these two years she was in the training school doing the city mission and other work required of the students. She cannot remember the time when she did not love Jesus, being taught of him in the home, where she also learned to love the foreign mission work. At eleven years of age there was a crisis in her religious life, when there came the question of surrender of will and life to Jesus for service. She united then with the Capitol Avenue church, Atlanta, where she worked in the Y. W. A., B. Y. P. U., S. S., especially delighting in the beginners department, where God showed her that her work was to be among the children. While at Hollins she became a volunteer. From father and mother both came influences that led to this decision. In her home missions was and is considered the greatest thing in the world. She was appointed by the board on June 16, 1914, for Tengchow, China.

World's Darkest Moment.

The darkest moment is said to be just before dawn. This is now discovered not to be so. The darkest moment, relatively speaking, is when the noonday sun shines. Then it is that living things on the earth are blinded by the dazzle of the sun and fail to recognize the light that never falls out in space.
